

Title of the workshop: testimony of a farmer in transition

Short description of the workshop for the programme:

The workshop is presenting the different point of views on how a farmer can do the transition from conventional to agroecological agriculture. The farmer tells the story about his transition, about the reason he wanted the transition, about the difficulties in legislation, social (other farmers), ...about the time and the effort it takes. Then some scientists and the public give their opinion about this. They talk about the lock in of the agriculture and about transition.
